Bullivants Grade 100 Alloy Chain Slings

Did you know Bullivants Grade 100 Chain Slings are assembled in Australia and issued with NATA certificates?

We stock a large range of 1, 2 or 4-leg slings which can be made in many configurations. Variations include the number of legs, chain length and fittings.

All Bullivants chain slings are manufactured using short link lifting chain in accordance with Australian Standards.

Grade 100 materials allow the slings to be 25% lighter than Grade 80 – reducing the chance of manual handling injuries.

The benefits of the Bullivants Grade 100 Alloy Chain Slings include:

- Length adjustable
- High chemical resistance (refer to safe use guide for compatibility)
- Long lasting compared to wire rope and synthetic slings
- Easy to use and inspect
- Many types of fittings are available to suit specific applications
- Self-locking hooks prevent accidental load release
- High visibility colour contrast connecting points

Supplied with a safe use guide, Bullivants Alloy Chain Slings are load tested in accordance with Australian Standard AS 3775.1.

Scholarship Program

A portion of our Grade 100 Chain Sling Assembly sales fund the Bullivants Indigenous Scholarship Program.

Bullivants

Introduced in 2018, this program encourages and supports Indigenous tertiary students who have a passion for engineering by providing them financial support.

The program grants each university student a one year, $10,000 scholarship each, enabling them to achieve their career aspirations in engineering or a related field.

Support the program and purchase your Bullivants Grade 100 Alloy Chain Sling today!
